HOW TO READ

How to read a product page

Every product gets two pages: the product and its score first, then the market and sourcing.

The opportunity score

The ring is the score out of 100, split into four parts read clockwise from the top. Navy shows points earned; the pale track shows points still missing. Under the title, the same four parts appear as bars with the points behind each one.

Want up to 20
People already show interest: Facebook ads, Google searches, dropshipping-platform lists, quick-commerce stock.

Early up to 30
The interest is new or growing: rising searches, advertisers who started in the last 30 days, new-arrival lists.

Room up to 25
Space left on Amazon and Flipkart. Low crowding earns all 25 points, Medium 12, High none.

Product up to 25
Checklist points met: 5 points earns 10, and each extra point adds 3, up to 25.

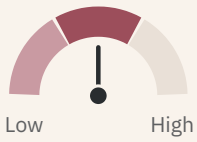

The label

Sweet spot Real interest, and Amazon and Flipkart are not too crowded.

Early bet Interest is new and growing, but not yet proven.

Proven but crowded People clearly want it, but Amazon and Flipkart are crowded.

Amazon & Flipkart crowding

Low, Medium or High, from the similar listings, brands or sellers, ratings and bestseller places we saw. Crowding sets the Room part, and crowded types are listed last.

Compliance flag

Compliance check required

Shown on baby, food, skin-contact, medical and electrical items. Check the legal and safety rules yourself before selling.

The checklist

Meets The evidence supports this point.

Does not meet The evidence goes against it.

Unclear Not enough evidence either way.

estimated — Judged from indirect evidence, such as listing photos or reviews.

Good fit = 6 to 10 points met. Decent fit = 5.

Market signals

Meta ads. Each dot is one advertiser, at the date of its first relevant ad. Maroon dots started in the last 30 days.

Google searches. Weekly interest in India over 12 months. The score compares the last four weeks (rose) with the four before (sand).

Bestseller — Dropshipping platforms. Whether DeoDap, BaapStore or Dropdash list the type, on which list, and at what dropship price.

Quick commerce. In stock, not in stock, or not checked, per app and city.

Supplier leads

One row per lead: where it is, how we found it, the minimum order and five terms, each ✓ yes, ⊗ no or ⊖ not stated. Leads are starting points, not recommendations.

This report does not predict sales, profit, margin or return-to-origin (RTO) rates. Suppliers are leads, not endorsements. Full notes are on the last page.

HOME AND DECOR · NEW THIS ISSUE

Self-watering plant spike set

Sweet spot | Good fit

Real interest, and Amazon and Flipkart are not too crowded.

Opportunity score

How the score adds up

Want 17/20

Facebook ads 8 · Google searches 5 · Platform lists 4 · Quick commerce 0

Early 17/30

Rising searches 8 · New advertisers 3 · New arrivals 6

Room 25/25

Crowding level: Low

Product 19/25

Meets 8 · Unclear 1 · Does not meet 1

Why this product

Self-watering spikes let an upturned plastic bottle feed a pot slowly for several days. They suit balcony and indoor gardeners in cities who travel or forget to water. Amazon and Flipkart carry only a few similar listings, which leaves room for a fresh listing, while steady Meta ads show sellers are already testing it.

1. Several advertisers run Meta ads for it, and one started within the last month.
2. Google searches in India have risen over recent weeks.
3. Dropdash shows it on a trending list and DeoDap lists it as a new arrival.

KEEP IN MIND

Results depend on soil and pot size, so buyers may need clear instructions. Single-piece dispatch is not confirmed for every supplier lead.

Product fit

● ● ◐ ● ● ● ● ● ● ○ Good fit · 8 of 10 checklist points met

- ✓ Small in size
  Each spike is palm-sized and a set packs into a small box.
- ✓ Easy to ship
  Light plastic parts, with no liquid or glass in the box.
- ◐ Improves confidence Unclear
  No clear link to how the buyer feels about themselves.
- ✓ Improves convenience
  Plants get water for days without daily watering.
- ✓ Saves people time
  Cuts the daily watering round, especially for balcony pots.
- ✓ Solves a problem or fills a gap
  Keeps plants alive during short trips away from home.
- ✓ Saves people money estimated
  May avoid replacing plants that dry out; not measured.
- ✓ Improves quality of life
  Makes keeping indoor plants easier for busy households.
- ✓ High perceived value
  Looks like a clever gadget for a modest price.
- ⊗ Woman-dominated audience Does not meet
  Home-plant buyers are mixed; no clear lean in the evidence.

BABY PRODUCTS · UPDATED THIS ISSUE

Silicone suction feeding set

Early bet · Good fit

Interest is new and growing, but not yet proven.

What changed: BaapStore now lists it as a new arrival, and Google searches have started rising.

Opportunity score

Client compliance check required. Baby feeding item that touches food: check food-grade material and child-safety labelling rules before selling.

How the score adds up

Want 8/20
Facebook ads 2 · Google searches 5 · Platform lists 1 · Quick commerce 0

Early 21/30
Rising searches 12 · New advertisers 3 · New arrivals 6

Room 12/25
Crowding level: Medium

Product 16/25
Meets 7 · Unclear 2 · Does not meet 1

Why this product

A silicone feeding set with a suction base that grips the table, so toddlers cannot easily push the bowl away. Interest is new rather than proven: Google searches in India have climbed sharply and BaapStore has just added it as a new arrival, but only a few advertisers run Meta ads so far.

1. Searches for it in India rose strongly over recent weeks.
2. BaapStore shows it on its new-arrivals list.
3. Amazon and Flipkart have a moderate number of similar listings, so some room remains.

KEEP IN MIND

Few advertisers so far, so demand is early and unproven. Baby feeding items need the client's own check of material and safety claims before any listing.

Product fit

Good fit · 7 of 10 checklist points met

- Small in size — Bowl, plate and spoon are small and light.
- Easy to ship — Silicone does not break, so shipping is simple.
- Improves confidence Unclear — No clear link to how the buyer feels about themselves.
- Improves convenience — The suction base keeps the bowl fixed on the table.
- Saves people time — Less cleaning up after spills.
- Solves a problem or fills a gap — Toddlers cannot easily push the bowl off the table.
- Saves people money Does not meet — No clear saving compared with an ordinary bowl.
- Improves quality of life Unclear — Helpful, but the difference is small.
- High perceived value — A bowl, plate and spoon set looks good value.
- Woman-dominated audience estimated — Baby feeding products are mostly bought by mothers; judged from listing photos and reviews.

Manual pull-cord vegetable chopper

Proven but crowded · Decent fit

People clearly want it, but Amazon and Flipkart are crowded.

Room 0/25
Crowding level: High

Product 10/25
Meets 5 · Unclear 2 · Does not meet 3

Why this product

A pull-cord chopper that minces onion, garlic and herbs by hand, without electricity. Demand is clearly proven: many advertisers, steady searches and bestseller places on two dropshipping platforms. The catch is crowding: Amazon and Flipkart already carry a very large number of similar listings from many brands.

1. Many advertisers run Meta ads for it, and have done so for months.
2. DeoDap and Dropdash both show it on bestseller lists.
3. It is in stock on quick-commerce apps in every city checked.

KEEP IN MIND

Very crowded on Amazon and Flipkart, so a new listing would compete with many established sellers on price and reviews.

Product fit

●●○●●●○◐○◐ Decent fit · 5 of 10 checklist points met

- ✓ Small in size
  Fits in a kitchen drawer.
- ✓ Easy to ship
  Plastic body with covered blades; no glass.
- ⊗ Improves confidence Does not meet
  A routine kitchen tool with no link to confidence.
- ✓ Improves convenience
  Chops onion, garlic and herbs without electricity.
- ✓ Saves people time
  Faster than chopping by knife for small amounts.
- ✓ Solves a problem or fills a gap
  Avoids teary eyes and uneven chopping.
- ⊗ Saves people money Does not meet
  No clear saving compared with a knife.
- ◐ Improves quality of life Unclear
  Small everyday help; the gain is modest.
- ⊗ High perceived value Does not meet
  Many similar choppers at low prices make it look ordinary.
- ◐ Woman-dominated audience Unclear estimated
  Kitchen tools lean towards women buyers, but the evidence is thin.

METHOD AND NOTES

How each issue is made

The same four steps run for every issue, three times a week.

Find

We search the agreed websites for narrow product types in four categories: Home and Kitchen, Home and Decor, Baby Products, and Travel and Outdoor.

Check

Each type is judged against the 10-point checklist. We record what Meta ads, Google Trends, dropshipping platforms, quick-commerce apps, Amazon and Flipkart show.

Score

Four parts add up to the opportunity score out of 100: Want (20), Early (30), Room (25) and Product (25).

Shortlist

Types are ranked by score, with crowded ones last. We look for supplier leads and keep dated links to everything we saw.

Important notes

- This report suggests products to test. It does not predict sales, profit, margin or return-to-origin (RTO) rates, and a high score is not a promise that a product will sell.
- Prices, stock and supplier terms are what we saw on the dates shown. They can change at any time.
- Supplier leads are starting points only. NeuraFlow has not contacted, checked or endorsed them.
- Items marked “Client compliance check required” need your own check of legal, safety and labelling rules before you sell them.
- “Estimated” marks a checklist answer judged from indirect evidence such as listing photos or reviews.
- Google Trends shows relative interest (0–100), not the number of searches or sales.

This mock-up uses invented sample figures, fictional supplier names and NeuraFlow’s illustrative still-life images. It is not research.
